FOR A SANE 4TH OF JULY

Patriotic Citizens Advocate Less Use of Explosives on Account of the Many Accidents.

Popular Mechanics, which claims the largest circulation of any publication in the world, comes out with an editorial in a recent issue pleading for a sane fourth.

The editorial has been put out in the form of a letter and copies sent to prominent officials, Governor Frear receiving a copy in yesterday's mail.

It is as follows:

"The annual celebration of our National birthday is rapidly approaching, and for scores of happy, healthy boys and girls who are now studying their lessons and romping with their playmates, the days of life are nearly ended. About one hundred days in this world is all that remains to them. It is almost a certainty that some of the parents who read these lines, and think of the fatality as coming to other children than their own, will be among those to whom July 4th will hereafter bring only the saddest of memories.

"Our indifference to the matter arises from the inborn human tendency to always think of disaster in the third person instead of the first, and thus no one is specialized. Suppose, for example, that Congress voted to sacrifice one boy each year as a National Fourth of July offering—just one single boy. What an uproar we would all make! Suppose, in due process of law, the victim was selected and his name and residence announced some morning.

Suppose, also, he was as unpromising and unlovable a youngster as could be found and he lived in a cross-roads village so small it was unknown beyond the county line. In a few hours the daily press would flood the country with extra editions, while editorial writers would hurl denunciations at the law-makers while demanding a special session of Congress, if necessary, to repeal so infamous a thing. Matters of the greatest business importance, social events of the first order and other doings of equal magnitude would have to appear in obscure portions of the papers. In every city, town and hamlet petitions to the President would form as if by magic; people of every occupation would neglect their business in order to affix their signature, and before night several million names of angry and determined men and women would have signed the demand. To carry the argument to its extreme, we may even assume that Congress refused to repeal the President declined to intercede and the highest court did not interfere. An attempt to execute the decree would precipitate civil war.

"All this to save one unknown boy.

"And yet on July 4th, 1910, two hundred or more boys and girls will yield their lives to a form of celebration which has long ago ceased to be even patriotic.

"While the basis is an impossible one, the pictured results would be true in every detail. An entire nation in arms to save one unwilling victim. The two hundred per cent with only a passing notice by the public and sorrow confined to relatives and near friends. Then why should this annual sacrifice continue? Are not the two hundred of equal consequence as one? As long as we continue to be satisfied with brief annual regrets, and confine our efforts to mere talk, conditions will not change. Two things would seem to suggest as the logical course to bring about a remedy.

"Something equally attractive to children must first be provided as a substitute; and

"Second, the young people themselves must work to accomplish the change. This would probably be done by a National movement operating through the public schools.

"To separate young America from toy pistols and dynamite crackers is no insignificant undertaking, but nothing to what the Spartan youths did voluntarily."

DULL, ACHING PAINS

A Tacoma Woman Tells How She Was Cured of a Trouble That Is Common to Her Sex.

Every woman should look well to the condition of her blood if she would escape days and weeks of useless and unnecessary suffering.

Any weakness of the blood will quickly make itself known in the form of pain that nine-tenths of women suffer in silence, not knowing that a remedy that will build up and strengthen the blood will quickly relieve and cure it. Women owe it, not only to themselves, but to their families to try a medicine that has accomplished this result in so many cases that its effects can be thoroughly relied upon.

Mrs. O. L. Taylor, of No. 1214 South Eighth street, Tacoma, Wash., received a permanent cure from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She says:

"Every three weeks for eight years I suffered from pains in my back and head. They were dull, aching pains and were worse just back of my left eye. Our doctor at Hollenberg, Kans., where I was then living, said I was suffering from weakness common to my sex. The pains made me very nervous and I could not get much sleep. My appetite was poor and I became quite thin. The doctor did not do more than give me temporary relief and the long sickness caused my blood to become thin and my nerves weak.

"It was only when I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that I received permanent relief. After a short trial I found that they were helping me as I began to have a good appetite, to get good sleep and to feel stronger in every way. The pills entirely cured me and I feel that it is my duty to tell other suffering women of this medicine."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been so successful in curing the characteristic ailments of womanhood that they are justly regarded as a specific for anemia or bloodlessness, chlorosis or green sickness, delayed development and all irregularities arising from impure or watery blood and weak nerves.

For complete information about the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in your case, send a postal card request for our free booklet, "Plain Talks to Women."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

APPOINTMENT OF GUARDIAN ASKED

Robert W. Davis, a nephew, has asked for the appointment of a guardian for John K. Sumner, alleging that Sumner is unable to care for his property and protect it.

The petition alleges that Sumner is 89 years old and that his property amounts in real and personal to approximately $12,000. The petitioner states that on account of the advanced age of Sumner he can not properly care for the property and that some suitable person is needed as a guardian.

July 18 was set by the court as the date for hearing the petition.
